

We are the experts in online mentoring programs designed to help public sector leaders navigate between politics and bureaucracy.

The Public Sector Leader

How's Your Political Acumen?

www.publicsectorleadership.ca

IPSL, Inside Public Sector Leadership is an online mentoring program designed to explore the unwritten protocols and grey areas that leaders in today's public service need to navigate in an environment of increasingly centralized decision making, a stronger political service, permanent campaigning, big data and a 24/7 news cycle. Through the stories and experiences shared by our Master Mentor faculty, you'll learn how others have approached and overcome many of the same complex challenges that public sector leaders face today. This practical wisdom is the heart of political acumen.

IPSL POLITICAL ACUMEN MASTER CLASS:

Here's What our IPSL Alumni Are saying about the Programs . . .

“ My team attended as a group which meant we were able to discuss our learnings after each session. As well as taking full advantage of the excellent materials in the Resource Room, this approach added another layer of value to the program and allowed us to sharpen our skills even further. We continue to remind each other of advice we heard in the sessions.”

“ I've been participating in this course and just wanted to pass on how excellent I think it is. This is the kind of highly practical and relevant real world advice that is missing from much management training. I appreciate how finely tuned the material is to the challenge of executive leadership in the public service. The examples are great. Thank you and keep it coming”
